MODISTIC MATTERS.

Fancies In Midseason Fabrics-Crocheted Buttons Modish.

Of course the foulards have always been more or less fashionable in the polka dot design, and this year they are back into favor with renewed popularity. The polka dot pongees and royals are equally fashionable, and there are also many new fabrics on the order of veilings shown in the polks dot design. Cotton and linen goods on this order are extremely fashionable both in the heavy qualities suitable for morning suits and in the thin batistes and lawns for afternoon and evening wear.

Much confusion ensues often from the differences between the several names given to one color. In some places the French terms will be used, and the materials also will be similarly designated. In other instances English names will be used for both and in still others coined words of fancy names that are sometimes changed during the season.

Crocheted buttons of linen are expensive, but they add greatly to the effect of a little cape coat or longer redingote styles that are so desirable for linen sults this summer.

The illustration shows a new jumper effect in pink linen trimmed with bands of the material worked in large dots with heavy embroidery cotton. For a young girl this is one of the most satisfactory of summer after-noon gowns. JUDIC CHOLLET.

IN FASHION'S REALM.

Interesting News About Bathing Suits. Styles In Nightgowns.

One of the most stunning bathing suits of the season is of white serge trimmed with bands of blue. The skirt is plaited and the blouse made with a short sailor collar in the back, which extends in revers down each side of the front, ending at the waist line. The white serge vest and the sleeves have an edging of blue bands, and the girdle is a strip of white with two blue pieces cut like a diamond shaped buckle in front, laced together with white silk cord over white serge buttons.

Summer nightgowns are cut very low in the neck and in some models have no sleeves. Others are made with a little bolero effect, and all styles are daintily interlaced with colored rib-

Dotted swiss negligees are charming this summer. A bewitching wrapper of this, with pink and white dots, was made with fitted yoke and a sort of Mother Hubbard body, with wide pink ribbons attached at the shoulders and crossing in front and back, where a generous bow was tied on the side, with long ends flowing to the bottom of the skirt.

White lines, with collar and belt of blue, is the material for this exceedingly attractive boy's suit, which is durable and sensible as well as good to look upon. The same model can be treated in a number of different ways-for instance, linen crash, with collar and shield of white, is much used this JUDIC CHOLLET.

MODISH VAGARIES.

Sandstone and Wild Mint the Latest Colors-High Collars and Headaches. The two new colors that are carrying all before them are sandstone and wild mint. The former bids fair to be in favor all summer and will be seen in connection with pale blue and em-broideries in the blue, and a touch of black is very chic.

Evening slippers are of never ending interest. Just at present satin is to the but pale shaded suedes and s tissue half gold or silver are both very much in vogue. The tiniest sort of jeweled buckle or clasp is the only adornment of the evening slipper of the moment. As it must appear as long and as narrow as possible, nothing in the way of trimming may interfere with it.

Blue is rapidly superseding brown as a popular color. A new shade that is soft and becoming is the nattier tone. This is often seen in combination with brown, especially on some of the new broad brimmed sallors.

It is said headaches are caused by wearing high collars, since, besides interfering with the pose of the head and the lines of the neck when too high in front, they account for much of the-eye strain now prevalent, which is usually accompanied by a severe headache. Wear low collars and rub a little glycerin and lemon juice into the neck to help remove the marks caused by the rub of the collar.

The litle girl is wearing a pale blue chambray suit made along the lines of the old time sailor. Such a costume is particularly suitable for the seashore and for school wear in the early fall.
